To whom it may concern:

We are so happy that the Maker farm has become a real asset on Bancroft street. The animals are beautiful! They are fed and cared for meticulously and anyone who visits wants to see everything and can. Child and adult safety is always present. Our granddaughter is taking riding lessons there for the second year. We hope that the town of Pepperell will continue to support this farm and the camp program.

Sincerely,

To whom it may concern,

My husband and I moved to 9 Bancroft St in Pepperell last November 2020. Our goal was to find a place that would be a positive environment for our growing family and this is it! Our house and property are lovely, but we quickly realized that there was so much more to this neighborhood.

The Maker Farm has become an important refuge as we anticipate the birth of our daughter in January. We live directly across the street and visit the farm almost every day. This is a place of solace and beauty for us now, but we also recognize that this is a place where our daughter will be able to grow and learn. There have been so many wonderful programs for kids that we have witnessed and we can't wait for our daughter to be a part of that. She will have the opportunity to interact with so many happy animals as well as kids and parents who also appreciate nature and our local community.

This is an ideal place for our family and we're so happy that we live right across the street from this beautiful farm. Eric and Emily have been incredibly gracious and generous from the very first day we arrived and we feel a strong sense of community and belonging here because of them.
